

HEAR GOV. LOWDEN AT FAMILY THEATRE TONIGHT

Poles Bottle Up Soviet Forces on North Front

DIXON PEOPLE WILL HEAR GOV. LOWDEN TALK THIS EVENING

All Lee County Invited to Hear Governor on State Politics.

Governor Frank O. Lowden, chief executive of Illinois, will address a Dixon audience this evening at 8 o'clock at the Family Theater on the issues of the republican campaign. The public is invited and urged to attend. Women, who it is expected will have their first complete vote this fall, are especially invited to come and learn of some of the things they must decide with their ballots on Sept. 15.

Has New Message.
Governor Lowden has a new message to deliver to the voters of Illinois at tonight's meeting in Dixon and the people of this vicinity are privileged to hear, first hand, some important truths that concern the Republican party and state government in Illinois.

Expect Large Crowd.
There will undoubtedly be a large attendance at tonight's meeting and all who wish to be sure of hearing the Governor should come early, as there will be no reserved seats.

Free Movies First.
At 7:15 the showing of several reels of the regular Monday run of moving pictures will commence. These pictures are also free to the public. Children will not be admitted to the theater this evening except when with their parents.

Thompson-Tammamy Issue?
While the Governor's subject here tonight has not been announced, it is presumed that he will deal, at least in part, with the attempt of William Hale Thompson of Chicago, to grab control of state politics and the fight that the "Thompson-Tammamy" machine in Cook County is waging against the federal forces downstate. At Elks Club at 7:30.

Race Horse and All of Outfit on Truck

Guy Jacobs, residing north of Sterling, owner of several head of race horses, passed through the city about noon Saturday with one of his best trotters, which he had entered at the Lee county fair at Amboy. Mr. Jacobs has adopted a novel method of traveling through the country from one fair to another with his racing stock.

He has one of the American Wagon company's bodies on an Olds truck. This carries the race horse. On the running board on each side he carries two sulks, all of the harness and equipment, while the owner and driver ride in the seat. The plan is original with Mr. Jacobs and many viewed his outfit during his short stay in Dixon at noon Saturday.

Fined for Selling Undersized Fish

Frank Thompson, for whom a warrant was issued in Justice Gehan's court last week for disposing of fish that were of illegal size, was found to be not guilty of the charge, he having had on part in the transaction. Another warrant charging the proprietors of the City Market, where the fish were found by the deputy state game and fish warden, was issued and a fine of $15 and costs was paid.

Daughter of Former Dixonites is Dead

Marjorie, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Heckman, former Dixonites, now residents of Oregon, died at their home in that city Friday morning. Burial was in Riverside cemetery at Oregon. The little one lived but 36 hours after birth.

Fight Deportations with General Strike

Sydney, Australia, Aug. 23.—Recommendation that workers cripple all industries in the event of future deportations was contained in a resolution adopted by the Trades Union conference in session here yesterday.

Harold Bliss was here from Ottawa over Sunday.

SPEAKS TONIGHT

GOV. FRANK O. LOWDEN.

Gov. Lowden will speak tonight at the Family Theater in Dixon on state politics. All voters in Lee county are invited to attend. Theater opens at 7:15 with free moving pictures. Come early.

METHODISTS ASK RETURN OF REV. LUMSDEN AGAIN

Want Popular Pastor to Continue Service in This City.

The Rev. T. K. Gale, District Superintendent of Joliet-Dixon District, held the last conference of the church on Friday evening in the Sunday school room. Reports were given by the various department leaders. These revealed the fact that splendid progress had been made on all sides of the church work.

The Sunday school is in excellent condition. The Epworth League has had a good year. The W. H. M. S. and the W. F. M. S. will each have a better year than last year. The gain in membership in these two societies affiliated with the missionary organizations are in good conditions. The Ladies' Aid society has had a splendid year, reporting money in the treasury with which to begin a new year.

The church membership is now over eight hundred. This last conference year has seen about one hundred additions. Needed repairs have been made on the church and parsonage property. Congregations are large and interested.

Peiper is Held to Grand Jury Today

Fred Peiper was bound over to the grand jury by Justice Grover Gehan this morning on a charge of larceny, his bail being fixed at $200, which was furnished. Peiper was charged with the theft of a length of pipe and a steel rod from the yard of the Drew pump office a week ago Saturday night.

TWO-CENT RATE MAY BE EFFECTIVE TILL COURT GIVES OPINION

Railroads of Illinois Unde- cided on Fare After September 1.

BULLETIN.
By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Aug. 23.—The fight over the Illinois two-cent fare law, restoration of which on Sept. 1, is being fought by seven railroads will open in Federal court here tomorrow. The roads obtained a temporary order, Aug. 7, restraining state officials from enforcing the law. Attorney General Brundage has appointed Assistant Attorney General Mathew Mills and George T. Buckingham to fight the case tomorrow when Federal Judges Baker, Carpenter and English will hear the railroad's motion to make the order permanent. In a letter addressed to Commercial Clubs and civic organizations throughout the state, asking them to protest to the Interstate Commerce Commission against the increased fare, Mr. Brundage says the increase will drive suburban residents back into the already overcrowded cities and again increase rents.

There is a possibility of Illinois interstate railroad passenger rates being reduced to two cents a mile September as provided by state law, according to advices received by passenger officials.

Circulars placing in effect Aug. 26 the twenty per cent increase in interstate passenger fares and fifty per cent boost in sleeping car rates, received today by local passenger agents bear the statement: "No increases will be made in intrastate fares until further orders." Later information received from passenger bureaus of the various roads is to the effect that the present rate of approximately 3 cents a mile may be discontinued and the roads return Sept. 1 to the two cents a mile rate prevailing before the war.

Carriers Are Undecided.
Action has already been started by the railroads for an injunction preventing the state from enforcing the two cents a mile law after the first of next month, but the carriers apparently have not yet decided upon a definite course to pursue in their passenger departments pending final decision on application of the two-cent law.

If the interstate increase is not made effective for intrastate business and present rates are continued after the first of next month, the roads may issue coupons with tickets for the difference over the two-cent rate pending a decision on the law. This was done a few years ago during litigation over passenger fares and the railroads made thousands of dollars through failure of the traveling public to redeem their coupon values. The issuing of the coupons involves much extra work, but the expense is usually more than overcome by the gain in lost coupons in the hands of the travelers.

Section Man Met Death at Sterling

Ariyo Branchi, an Italian, aged 40 years, who resided in Rock Falls and was employed by the Chicago & Northwestern railroad as a section hand, lost his life shortly after six o'clock Friday night when he was crushed between two cars just west of the Avenue B. crossing.

Branchi and several other section men had just finished their work and had placed their hand car in the shed west of Ave. B., and had started on their way home when the accident happened. They were walking along the tracks and Branchi started between the cars on the repair track. He evidently did not know that the switch engine was attached to one of the string of cars. He had no sooner got between the cars, when the engine backed up and the cars came together, crushing him between the two cars and crushing his life out.

State Auditors at Water Co. Books

C. Holland and C. A. Tuttle of the auditing department of the Illinois Public Utilities Commission, are in the city today for the purpose of examining and auditing the books for the Dixon Water Co. Their inspection is to determine that figures submitted by the Water company agree with the books and is routine work conducted by the Commission in the cases of all concerns having causes before the state board.

UP TO HIS NECK IN WORK

AUTO DRIVERS FLEE AFTER RUNNING OVER LITTLE GIRL TODAY

Officers Searching for Men Who Injured 4-Year-Old Girl.

A Ford touring car bearing Illinois state license number 430059 in which five men were riding ran down the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Smudka on East River St. near the plant of the Distilled Water Ice company this morning. The little girl was knocked down and painfully injured. It being necessary to take her to the hospital for examination to ascertain the full extent of her injuries.

The men in the car did not stop to ascertain or not they had killed the child but sped on east on River street. The number on the car was reported to the police by witnesses of the accident and Chief Van Bibber telegraphed at once to the office of the secretary of state for information which will probably lead to the arrest of the guilty parties.

LATER
At noon today Chief Van Bibber received a telegram from the office of the secretary of state at Springfield stating that the license number had been issued on a car owned by Henry Maldonado, Mexican, residing near the cement plant. A warrant was issued at once for his arrest and Deputy Robert Phillips took him in custody this afternoon.

Witnesses of the accident stated that Maldonado at first slowed up his car but after hitting the little girl, he sped up, driving east to Artesian Place where he turned south.

Dr. C. H. Bokhof, who attended Stella Smudka, the four year old victim of the accident, stated at noon that her injuries consisted of several wounds, several teeth knocked out and ribs severely badly bruised. She was taken from the hospital to her home at noon today.

Maldonado came to Dixon this afternoon where the warrant was served and taken into Justice Hanneken's

TO END WARS

By Associated Press Leased Wire London, Aug. 22.—Organization of all workers in the world to fight against future wars is urged in an appeal to "the proletariat of the universe" issued by the International League of Trade Unions at Rotterdam and signed by a number of European labor leaders.

"One of the best methods of preventing future wars," says the statement, "is to refuse to transport troops or war material."

Court. He at first denied any knowledge of the accident, but when acquainted with the fact that several witnesses could be secured, pleaded guilty and paid a fine of 25 and costs on a charge of reckless driving.

MENDOTA BOYS' CAR OVERBANK NO ONE IS HURT

Youth, Known Here, in Lucky Accident on Seatonville Road.

Mendota Sun-Bulletin: To have their car roll over them twice in going down a 25-foot embankment and then emerge with only their clothing showing the effects of the accident, was the experience of Clarence Becker, Franz Full, Richard McMahon and Robert Harkness Saturday evening on the Peru road to Seatonville.

The boys were driving along the road at a slow rate of speed and had reached the top of the hill when a Ford car, coming up the hill from the opposite direction on low gear, with glaring head lights, blinded Becker, who was driving. He turned on to the side and as the Ford passed, the machine with the local boys in it, slid off the road and rolled down the embankment.

Shortly after a passing car gave assistance and the boys hired a car and came home.

It was a miraculous escape for the boys and outside of a repair bill on the car and the purchase of new clothing, they can thankfully state that they came out of it only financial injury.

HAD OPERATION.

Mrs. Al Schick submitted to an operation at the Dixon hospital Saturday. Her condition is as satisfactory as could be expected.

SUFFRAGE DELAY OF EIGHTEEN MONTHS IS SAID TO BE POSSIBLE

Tennessee Antis to Carry Fight to Highest Court in U. S.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 23.—Anti-suffrage forces have taken further steps to prevent certification of the ratification of the federal suffrage amendment by the Tennessee legislature.

Under an amended bill filed in court here yesterday Chief Clerks W. M. Carter and John Green, of the Senate and House respectively, were made parties to the temporary injunction restraining state officials from taking any steps toward certifying ratification. Opponents of suffrage declare that their action in amending the temporary injunction will serve to prevent final legislative action on the resolution at least until after the hearing on the injunction proceedings. No date for the hearing has been set.

Mass Meetings Called.
After receipt here today of an address to the people of Tennessee from the 37 bolters at Decatur, Ala., urging that mass meetings be held in every county next Saturday to express the will of the people, anti-ratification headquarters announced that a corps of speakers would begin immediately a tour of the state to arouse such feeling against suffrage ratification that legislators who voted for suffrage will be forced to reverse their stand.

Suffrage opponents are acting on the theory that house has not disposed of the Walker motion to reconsider the resolution vote and that they yet have a chance to adopt it and rescind ratification. Governor Tobeys, Attorney General Thompson and others hold that the amendment has been ratified and declared only the injunction stands in the way of certifying ratification to Washington.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 23.—Both factions in the Tennessee suffrage fight prepared today for a legal battle over the legislature's ratification of the federal suffrage amendment. Suffragists and their opponents were of the opinion the next step in the controversy probably would be the hearing on the temporary writ of injunction.

COX FAILED TO GIVE EVIDENCE OF G. O. P. FUND

Senatorial Investigat- ing Committee Has No Reply.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Chicago, Aug. 23.—Senator Spencer of Missouri, this morning announced that he had resigned from the senate sub-committee appointed to investigate campaign expenditures. The sub-committee met here today to lay plans for the investigation of expenditures in the coming campaign.

Senator Spencer said he resigned to devote his entire time to his own campaign for re-election in Missouri and because, as a candidate, his campaign may be under investigation by the committee.

Senator Leverage Y. Sherman, Republican National Committeeman from Illinois is understood to be Senator Spencer's probable successor.

When the committee met, Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, announced that he had received no answer from Governor James A. Cox to the telegram he sent the Governor Saturday asking that Mr. Cox give the committee any evidence he might have to support his charges that the Republicans were raising a $15,000,000 campaign fund.

Senators Kenyon, Reed, Pomerene and Spencer were present when the committee met today. Senator Edge of New Jersey, the fifth member, is in Europe.

Chairmen Summoned.
Chairmen Will H. Hays, and Geo. White, of the Republican and Democratic national committees, respectively; the treasurer of each committee and the treasurers of the senatorial and congressional campaign committees of each party today were ordered to appear before the senate committee investigating campaign expenditures here, next Monday.

The committee directed them to bring all books and papers relating to campaign collections and expenditures.

Adjourn Till Monday.
The committee decided to adjourn until next Monday when it will start its work with an investigation of the Presidential campaign.

As a result of the decision to take up the Presidential campaign first, Senator Spencer of Missouri who earlier in the day, announced that he would resign from the committee withdrew his decision and decided to remain at least for the present.

The committee directed Senator Kenyon, its chairman, to telegraph Governor James M. Cox asking him to either appear here next Monday or send a representative to present any evidence he may have to substantiate his charges that the Republicans are raising a $15,000,000 campaign fund.

Senator James A. Reed of Missouri announced he had received no response from Governor Cox to his message asking that the Governor send the evidence here today.

The program mapped out by the committee today is expected to require hearings lasting several weeks. The investigation of the presidential campaign probably will all be staged here and the committee for the time being, has dropped for hearings in other cities.

Cars Collided on Busy Dixon Street

A Ford coupe, occupied by four young people, strangers, whose names were not learned, ran into DeWitt Dauntler's car on Galena ave. between First and second streets Saturday night, as Mr. Dauntler was backing into the curb to park his machine. Bent fenders constituted the greater part of the damage to both machines.

WARRANT FOR KROHN.
A warrant charging William Krohn with disorderly conduct was sworn out by the motorcycle officer in Justice Hill's court this morning. The defendant has left Dixon for an extended southern trip and service could not be obtained prior to his departure.

GATEWAY TO ESCAPE CLOSED; PRISONERS AND MATERIAL TAKEN

Poland May Become Big Graveyard for Red Fighting Force.

BULLETIN.
By Associated Press Leased Wire

Lucerne, Switzerland, Aug. 23.—(By Associated Press)—Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain and Premier Giolitti, of Italy, have adopted proposals to be submitted to France for allied action to secure Poland free and unrestricted use of Danzig and its communications in accordance with the Versailles treaty, it was announced officially here today.

Warsaw, Aug. 23.—(By Associated Press) The process of bottling up the Russian soviet forces on the northern front between Russia and the Vistula river has been completed according to an official statement issued just before last midnight. The Poles have closed the gateway of escape taking prisoners and materials in such quantities that it is impossible to count them.

One Polish infantry division alone took 5,000 prisoners and 16 guns. The Soviet forces which have been menacing Lemberg from the east and south have commenced to retreat under pressure, the statement says of the continued Polish advance along the entire central and northern fronts. At one time General Budenny, the Soviet cavalry leader was within nine miles of Lemberg, but has been thrown back in a southwesterly direction. All the Russians in this region are in full retreat.

Twenty-two camps were taken during the advance on the northern front under the personal command of President Pilsudski, the Poles crossing the line of the Narw south of Bialystok, 120 miles northeast of Warsaw. The Russian retreat continues in the general direction of Grodno and eastward.

Forces Regrouped.
Polish forces Sunday night were endeavoring to cut off the retreat of four Russian Soviet armies or force them into German territory. On the extreme Polish left the Soviet cavalry was defeated and driven out of Sildau and then regions occupied by the Russians in the north Vistula area between Thorn and Plock.

The Polish forces have been regrouped into two armies for pursuit of the Russians, the northern army under General Haller and the center army under President Pilsudski. The latter's turning movement continues under the best conditions.

POLISH FACTIONS AGREE

By Associated Press Leased Wire London, Aug. 23.—The Polish leaders at Katowitz, Upper Silesia where serious disorders between the rival factions have occurred have accepted the inter-allied commission's proposals for a settlement, according to a Berlin dispatch to the Central News today.

These proposals are first, disarmament of the population; second, repeal the state of siege; third, the creation of a neutral "safety guard"; and, fourth, the strike to be called off and work to be resumed today.

WARNED BY U. S.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Washington, Aug. 23.—Poland has been cautioned by the American government not to permit her armies in their present counter offensive against Russian Bolsheviks to advance beyond the ethnographic boundaries of Poland.

Informal representations on the subject it was stated officially today have been made to the Polish government through the American charge at Warsaw.

HOLD UP POLES' SUPPLIES

By Associated Press Leased Wire Paris, Aug. 23.—German workers at Danzig have established Soviets and have seized the piers preventing the landing of any supplies for Poland, says a report from that city. The German commander of the port is said to have refused to assign moorings for the French dispatch boat, Acria and the cruiser Guelford. Sir Reginald T. Tower, high commissioner for the League of Nations at Danzig, has refused to take any responsibility, declaring he must await instructions from London.

A quick and easy way to pare tomatoes for the table is as follows: Dip the tomato into water. Put it on a fork. Hold tomato in the gas flame. The skin will burst in a minute. Skin with a sharp knife.

Skimming tomatoes this way instead of scalding them saves time and ice. The tomato is not heated through as in scalding, which means no extra heat to overcome. It is not necessary to heat water, which means a saving in time.

Menu for Tomorrow.

BREAKFAST—Berries, ham and eggs, toast, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Tomato and cheese ball salad, bran bread and butter, frozen apricots, individual sponge cakes, tea.

DINNER—Cream of corn soup, cold baked ham, creamed potatoes, head lettuce with Russian dressing, honey dew melon, coffee.

My Own Recipes.

There are always little bits of ham left around the bone when one bakes or boils the whole ham. These little pieces are not nice to serve but are just the thing to work up in breakfast dishes.

HAM AND EGGS.

1 cup chopped ham.
3 eggs.
3 tablespoons milk.
1 tablespoon flour.
1/4 teaspoon pepper.

Break eggs into a mixing bowl and beat just enough to thoroughly mix the yolks and whites. Stir flour and milk to a smooth paste. Beat into eggs. Add ham. Turn into a hot buttered frying-pan. Bake in a quick oven.

TOMATO AND CHEESE BALL SALAD.

2 large tomatoes.
1 package cream cheese.
6 green olives.
1 tablespoon minced pimento.

Remove seeds from olives and chop. Work cheese, olives and pimentos into small balls. Pare tomatoes and cut in halves. Put one-half of a tomato on hearts of lettuce, place two or three cheese balls on tomato. Serve with French dressing.

There may be room for argument about women dressing to please men but there's surely no question about their cooking to please the lords of creation.

Few people would think of going to the pantry for a "beautifier" and the idea may be a bit unusual just at first, but while I'm telling all I know, I might as well tell this, too. Many people find clear, home-rendered lard as effective as any face cream on the market. It softens and cleanses the skin in an almost magical fashion.

Rub "it" into the face with the fingers and then rub it off with a piece of soft cheese-cloth or an old towel.

Menu for Tomorrow.

BREAKFAST—Grapes, soft-boiled eggs, butter toast, orange marmalade, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Sweetbread and mushroom timbales, whole wheat bread and butter, fruit salad, maple mousse, coffee.

DINNER—Jellied bouillon, fish croquettes, creamed potatoes, green peas, dressed lettuce, cantaloupe filed with ice cream, coffee.

My Own Recipes.

Plain vanilla or peach ice cream is delicious with cantaloupe. Even those persons who insist on eating salt on their melon have to acknowledge that the ice cream makes cantaloupe into a real dessert. The melon should be thoroughly chilled and then should be served immediately after cutting and filling with cream.

SWEETBREAD AND MUSHROOM TIMBALES.

1 cup mushrooms.
1 large or
2 small sweetbreads.
2 tablespoons butter.
3 tablespoons flour.
1/2 teaspoon salt.
1/4 teaspoon pepper.
1 cup milk.
1/2 cup stale bread crumbs.
1 tablespoon minced onion.
2 tablespoons butter.
2 eggs.
Paprika.

Cook onion in 2 tablespoons of butter for five minutes. Add mushrooms finely chopped and sweetbread parboiled and finely chopped. Make a white sauce of butter, flour, salt, pepper and milk and add to first mixture. Add bread crumbs and paprika. Add yolks of eggs well beaten and fold in whites beaten till stiff and ry. Half fill buttered custard cups or timbale molds. Set in a pan of hot water, cover with buttered paper and bake 25 minutes.

MAPLE MOUSSE.

1 cup maple sirup.
4 eggs.
1 cup milk.
2 tablespoons flour.
1 cup cream.
Add yolks of eggs to sirup and stir till it boils. Add milk and flour stirred to a smooth paste. When custard is cool, add cream. Turn into freezer and when partly frozen, add the whites of 2 eggs beaten till stiff. Let stand packed in salt and ice for four hours.

A picnic is lovely but after it's all over, isn't the front porch restful?

Bids for Palmyra Road Work Too High

At an adjourned meeting held Saturday at the office of County Supt. of Highways L. B. Neighbour to act upon bids submitted for macadamizing the highway from the Ira Rutt place on the River road to the Harms' place on the Town Line road, all bids were rejected by Commissioner Sier as being too high. Bids submitted were: Paul McGinnis—Crushed stone $3.75 per yard, the town to furnish quarry privilege.

Clarence Lenox—Screened gravel $3.83 per yard, contractor to furnish gravel.

Bert Wallace—Crushed gravel, $3.27 per yard, town to furnish gravel.

The macadamizing of the road from Mensch's Corners east to the Douglas highway also was advertised for this letting, but no bids were received.

PERISCOPE HELPS SPOT SPEED BUGS

Here's a speed trap from which no speedster can escape. It's in Los Angeles, where motorists like to speed through the tunnels. To stop them, Sergeant Frank Harlan of the motorcycle squad has caught on the idea of detecting violators by the periscope. He waits and watches through this instrument at one end of a tunnel, and using a stop-watch, sees how long it takes a car to pass through the moment it hits the shadow at the other end to the time it is abreast of him. He knows the length of the tunnel and therefore can calculate how fast the car is speeding. If it exceeds the limit, he motions to a policeman standing by, who sets off after the

THEY GO TO SCHOOL.

Next month 24,000,000 children are going to return to school. Some,
to the country schools; some to more elaborate buildings of the cities.

Some of them will see "teacher" for the first time. Ruddy-faced, shined up for fair, pig-tails hanging down their backs and "high-water marks" temporarily eliminated, these little boys and girls, many of them, are to make their bows as pupils.

What are they going to find? Reducing the 700,000 teachers to a composite picture, "she" for 80 per cent of the teachers are women, will be found to be an underpaid person, trying her best to keep body and soul together as she teaches the young idea how to shoot, and almost afraid to ask the school board for the raise it ought to be glad to give her without asking.

J. W. Crabtree, secretary of the National Education Association, says that last year 18,000 positions of teachers remained vacant. He expects a much higher percentage this year.
He says that last year 42,000 teachers' positions were filled by teachers, who did not hold even the lowest grade of certificates so as to keep the schools going at all. The reason—only one—poor pay.

Better pay up. A little more pay for the teacher in this country, will be a mighty good investment, taxpayers are beginning to believe.

"Rats are carriers of the bubonic plague, which recently has swept over Mexico with appalling results and penetrated into Texas, causing deaths. It is possible for these carriers of bubonic plague to reach northern points in shipments or in cars. Rout the rat."—Dr. H. L. Rockwood, Cleveland Health Commissioner.

EXTERMINATING RATS.

In exterminating rats either by poisoning or by trapping, it is important to bear in mind that success depends largely on the degree to which the removal of other foods makes the poisoned bait or the bait in the traps attractive to the rat.

A variety of poisons may be used, barium carbonate, phosphorus, arsenic and others, but even with an efficient poison, failure often results through lack of attention to details.

How to Use Barium Carbonate. KIND OF BAIT. Three or more kinds of bait should be used. Each must be mixed separately with barium carbonate. One kind of bait from each of the following classes should be used:

(1) Meat or other animal substances such as Hamburg steak, sausage, canned salmon, eggs or oysters.
(2) Fresh fruit or vegetable food, such as, cantaloupe, tomatoes, green corn, baked sweet potatoes, bananas, etc.
(3) Miscellaneous foods, milk or cheese, peanut butter, bread, cake, cereals (raw or cooked).

HOW TO MIX. The barium carbonate must be thoroughly mixed with the bait, so that the rats cannot eat the smallest portion of the bait without getting some of the barium carbonate. In the case of such substances as Hamburg steak, cheese, etc., use one part of barium carbonate to four parts of bait. Mix thoroughly with a spoon.

Substances which cannot be thoroughly mixed with barium carbonate as just described (for example, cantaloupe, tomatoes, etc.) should be cut into small pieces and thoroughly covered with barium carbonate and then worked in with a knife.

HOW TO SET POISONS. The three kinds of bait, prepared as above, should be divided into small portions, about a teaspoonful each, and placed freely about premises, alternating baits 1, 2, 3. It should be set at short intervals, not over 10 or 15 feet. DO NOT MIX THE DIFFERENT KINDS OF BAIT WITH EACH OTHER.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS. The morning after baiting, look for dead rats and remove them. Take up baits. Examine these so as to see which have attracted most rats. If any kind of bait has not been touched, use a different kind of bait instead of this. Fresh bait should be used each night.

HOW OFTEN TO BAIT. Bait every night, as long as rats continue to eat bait.

CAUTION. Keep fowls, dogs, cats, etc., away from bait.
ANTIDOTE. An emetic, followed by Rochelle or Epsom salts.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Curious Questions

Torty Turtle went to get out the old tea-pot on his mantle shelf, and left Mr. Tingaling, the fairy landlord, with his little friends Nancy and Nick in the big front hall where Torty's ancestors were.

There they stood in a great silent row, as still as the meeting house steps on Monday, looking for all the world like overturned butter-bowls, or war hats, or toast warmers, depending on the weather.

Says this candid man from the golden west: "But the others—baby faces are as common as roses out here. They're pretty, but we don't get excited about them."

So girls who favor the movies, take stock.

BOOSTING THE CENSUS

Ten years ago Morristown, N. J. had a population of 12,507.

Morristown hasn't expanded much, but citizens kept right on giving their town credit for 12,507.

But the other day the census man, down in Washington, made public Morristown's 1920 census figures—12,505.

"Two shy," Morristowners exclaimed. "How comes it?"

"Census figures are wrong," asserted the county prosecutor. "I've got the correct total."

"How is it you know more about this matter than the census bureau?" inquired the disappointed Morristowners.

"Girl baby this morning at my house," he explained; "a boy baby at my sister's home. Two plus what the census man added up equals what we had ten years ago."

And thus doth Morristown ambles along for another decade secure in the knowledge that there are 12,507 of 'em.

LOAFERS

There was a poet named Whitman. He had a hunch he was a great Democrat.

Walt went his way. One of his lines survived him. "I loaf and invite my soul."

Which is a lovely lie. Like every lie, it has some truth in it.

It's this—If you always toil, always grub, always grind your nose, your soul gets as sweaty and smelly as your body.

You need time to rest, to relax, to meditate, to lie close to the heart of things and think.
But, dear Clarence and Claribel,

"I'm fifty!" the head said, and banged down the lid again.

ing upon which you happen to know the best.

"I wonder how old they are!" remarked Nick, thinking of his picture-book which showed a row of mummies from Egypt.

Suddenly a butter-bowl near him raised its upper lid and peeped out. "I'm fifty!" the head said, and banged down the lid again.

"Goodness!" said the little boy breathlessly. "I thought you were dead."

"I'm not," answered the head tartly, suddenly reappearing. "Why meditation isn't mooning. Thinking isn't loafing."

If it were not work to think, and good hard work, more people would try it.

"I loaf and invite my soul," said Walt. And followeth the remark with thirteen hundred and forty lines of poem to prove it.

Thirteen hundred and forty lines! Loafing, indeed!

Why, it's a man's-size job even to read it. And Walt pretended he was loafing. Do you wonder that Whitman aimed to be of the people and ended by becoming the enshrined saint of a literary cult?

Do you wonder that Walt aimed at the forest and hit the moon?

should I be? I'm Timothy Turtle, Torty's Dad."

"And who is the next one?" asked Nancy curiously moving along the row.

Timothy lifted his lid further and slid out a few sideways. "Hey wake up!" he called to the butter-bowl next him, at the same time giving it a shove in the side. "Compass here, and they're as full of questions as the arithmetic book. They want to know your name, and if you're dead, and if not how old you are, and when you had your last picture taken, and how you like your eggs done, and what you think of—"

"Tut, tut, tut!" said butter-bowl number two, sticking out his head and looking around. "How often have I told you, Timothy, not to speak to your old Dad so disrespectfully. Who's this wants to know my age? I'm quite young, only a hundred. You can ask Grandfather over there, if I'm not."

THE SUCCESSFUL MAN

The successful man is the one who doesn't claim to "know it all." He is the executive who is not afraid of gathering about him a staff of brainy workers, some of whom know, perhaps, better than he, how to run the business, or government, or what-not. He is the one who allows his subordinates to work out the details—and mark ye for this is the important point—and gives them credit, private and public, for so doing.

He is the big man, the man of broad vision, who will remain cool and collected through any period of depression or financial setback that may come.

Emulate him. It is hard to do.

NEED FOR ECONOMY

Your government is now paying six per cent interest on its latest issue of treasury certificates of indebtedness. This is an abnormally high rate for the United States government to pay, but pay it must if the cost of government is to be met.

This six per cent interest rate, if nothing else, ought to impress every government official, executive and legislative, with the prime necessity of economy in governmental affairs. It is bad enough to waste four per cent money; it is more costly to be a spendthrift at six per cent.

THE TEASPOON.

Few people realize that danger lurks in the use today of the teaspoon. Size of teaspoons is not uniform in the United States. A collection at random of 10, will show almost that number of different sized spoons.

Prescriptions often call for substances containing poisonous drugs. But does the prescription call for the use, always, of a certain sized teaspoon? No. It invariably reads: "Teaspoonful every three or what-not hours."

If a patient suffering say from a weak heart, takes a dose of his medicine in a teaspoon holding about 60 drops of the liquid, which is about the amount he should have, well and good. But what if he uses one of those cute, modern things? Then he doesn't get all that the heart should have. Or if he uses a spoon holding more than is good for him, he is just as bad off.

When he was 17, Ben Reed, Uniontown, Pa., ran away from home.

Left a note saying he wouldn't be back until he got good and ready.

Returned recently to celebrate his 33rd birthday with his old boyhood pals. Spent the day in the cemetery with 'em.

This Is, Probably, the Best Fish Story of the Season

Sheriff Goulding, of Garfield-co, Utah, found a fish 50 feet long, and so heavy that six horses had all they could do to pull it home. Bum eating, though, for the fish was petrified. Goulding found it encased in rocks.

This, Too, Is Good Reading

Jerry Wilson, Paris, Ky., caught two large bass, five catfish and a bream all on one hook at one pull of the line.

This is how it happened: Another guy had first caught 'em and tied 'em on a line floating in the water. Fish got separated from the shore peg and headed down stream. Passing Jerry Wilson's hook the last fish on the line took a bite. All were caught again.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME

THE MAGICIAN

STATE TO SUB-LEASE TRUCKS TO OFFICERS OF MUNICIPALITIES

Must Be Used in Road Work and Rental to Be Collected.

Subsequent to the close of the war Congress passed an Act providing for the distribution of suitable road building equipment by the War Department, through the Secretary of Agriculture, to the various states. This Act provided that such equipment could be used only in the construction of Federal Aid roads. In accordance with this Act and up to the present time the State of Illinois has received about 775 serviceable motor trucks.

Early in 1920 Congress passed an amendment permitting the various states to lease this equipment to counties or other municipal bodies for road work, removing the restriction on their use for Federal Aid roads only. This enabled the Department to allot to the various counties of the state some 400 motor trucks; about half of this equipment was new when received by the state and one-half had been used in the army. The allotment to the counties was made partly in proportion to the road mileage in the county and partly in proportion to the assessed valuation of the county. Up to the present time more than 100 trucks have been turned over to counties under this plan which provides that the county itself or any municipality may, by entering into an agreement with the state, receive one or more of the motor trucks which were included in the original allotment to the county.

The Federal Act providing for this distribution is very explicit in requiring that the title of the trucks remain with the State, and that the trucks shall not be leased, to any township, city or municipality at a less rental than that necessary to keep the truck in repair. The State, therefore, is charging a rental for these trucks including a small fixed sum to cover the cost to the state of freight and handling, and a small yearly sum to cover the general inspection of this machinery, the municipality being expected to maintain the trucks in good repair.

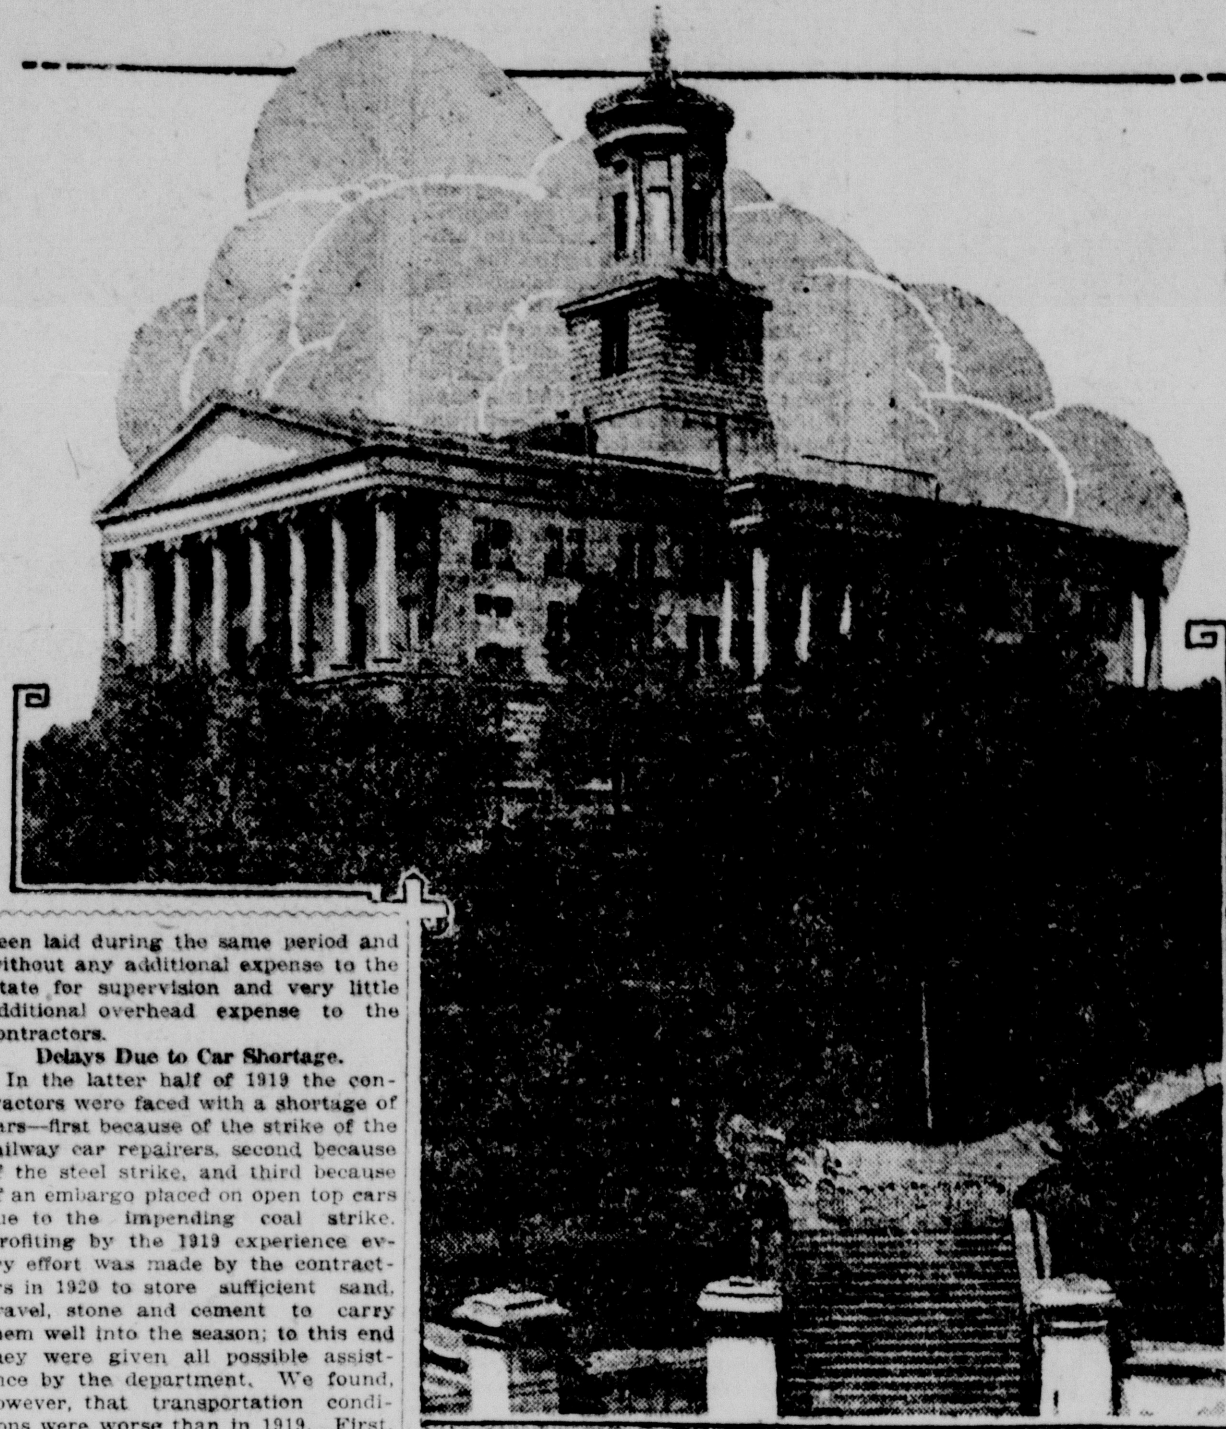

The trucks are virtually the property of the county or municipality, although the title remains with the state. As the agreement with the county or municipality provided that the trucks may be retained as long as they are kept in serviceable condition and are used on the public roads or streets. This requirement is only that specified in the Federal law and cannot be avoided.

It may readily be appreciated that by the distribution of surplus war equipment in this way, although the government does not receive a cash return, the expenditures for this type of war equipment is giving value received to the people as a whole.

One State Accomplished as Much. The road work accomplished in Illinois this year is far in excess of that done by any other state with the exception of Pennsylvania, which is making about the same progress as Illinois.

We consider the progress we are making fairly satisfactory under existing conditions yet the fact remains that if the contractors could get delivery of materials as required, easily twice as much pavement could have been laid during the same period and without any additional expense to the State for supervision and very little additional overhead expense to the contractors.

SCENE OF SUFFRAGE VICTORY

Delays Due to Car Shortage.

In the latter half of 1919 the contractors were faced with a shortage of cars—first because of the strike of the railway car repairers, second because of the steel strike, and third because of an embargo placed on open top cars due to the impending coal strike. Profiting by the 1919 experience every effort was made by the contractors in 1920 to store sufficient sand, gravel, stone and cement to carry them well into the season; to this end they were given all possible assistance by the department. We found, however, that transportation conditions were worse than in 1919. First, came a more pronounced shortage of cars; this developed early in the year when it became almost impossible to get box cars for shipping cement. The cement companies resorted to the use of stock cars and open top cars in order to overcome the shortage. Second, this shortage was greatly increased by the switchmen's strike. Third, the coal situation which tied up a very large number of cars for a considerable period of time became acute much earlier than usual, resulting in an order being issued by the Car Service Commission restricting the use of open top cars to fifty percent of the requirements of any producer of materials; and also providing that open top cars could not be used for carrying commodities that could be as readily shipped in other classes of equipment. This order prevented the sand, gravel and stone producers from getting sufficient cars to take care of the highway contractors and also prevented the shipment of cement in open top cars. Fourth, the order issued by the Car Service Commission was followed by an order from the Interstate Commerce Commission which provided that coal cars could be loaded with other commodities only when returning in the direction of the mines. These two orders issued from Washington which are in effect at the present time have demoralized shipping conditions as applied to road building materials and made it impossible for the contractors to depend upon regular deliveries. Practically all of them have been obliged to shut down at frequent intervals because of the shortage of materials, and some of them for weeks at a time. The department has kept in constant touch with the requirements of the contractors, with the material producers and with the railroad officials, endeavoring to assist in procuring cars and securing shipments of materials so as to keep as many contractors as possible at work.

Policemen Killed in Chicago Resort

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Chicago, Aug. 23.—Policeman William Hennessey was killed and Policeman James Mulcahy probably fatally wounded early today when the two were attacked in the Beaux Arts Club, a "black and tan" cafe in the South Side black belt. Hirschey Miller, a municipal court bailiff, one of three suspects arrested, confessed police say, that he shot both policemen.

OGLESBY FAVORS ACTIVE WORK ON ILLINOIS ROADS

Candidate for Governor or Takes Right Stand on Improvement.

Lieut. Governor John G. Oglesby, candidate for Governor of Illinois at the September primaries on the Republican ticket, takes a very determined stand on the road improvement proposition and his statement will be interesting to the people of this city vicinity. The Lieutenant Governor says:

The road question is of supreme importance to all the people of the state and a progressive and sound policy of road building should be followed.

As is well known, the state has provided for the construction of approximately forty-six hundred miles of road by a Sixty Million Dollar bond issue. Because of unforeseen and unavoidable economic conditions, the inability to obtain cars for transportation, the impossibility of contractors to get road materials and the enormous increase in the price of construction, the original plan the completion of this hard road system has not been carried out with the rapidity we all desire.

I pledge myself to use every practical means to meet conditions that confront us and to press the program to as early a completion as possible. The sections of roads throughout the different parts of the state which have been begun should be completed to a state of usefulness and convenience before new divisions for the building of roads are torn up.

To Do Preliminary Work.

The work of constructing fills and grades does not depend upon material or transportation, but is almost entirely a matter of labor. It is my belief that the work of constructing these fills and grades on the agreed routes should be proceeded with wherever possible. Some method also should be worked out whereby the routes decided upon to be hard surfaced can be kept drained, dragged and, as near as may be, thoroughly convenient for travel until economic conditions will permit the hard surfacing of these routes.

ARE WOMEN NATURALLY DESPONDENT?

A prominent writer so claims. Women are constituted with a delicate organism and in nine cases out of ten mental depression may be attributed to an abnormal condition of the system, which expresses itself in nervousness, sleeplessness, backaches, headaches, causing constant misery and as a result despondency. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a simple remedy made from roots and herbs, is the one great remedy for this condition. It goes to the root of the trouble and overcomes despondency.

Early races were accustomed to indicate numbers by their fingers.

A speed of 44 miles an hour was the record made for one mile by the U. S. destroyer, "Satterlee," in a recent trial.

Certain industrial associations urge the creation of a new national department of public works, to absorb the present Department of the Interior.

"WILL PRAISE IT LONG AS I LIVE" SHE SAYS

This is What Mrs. Sarah Brunner Says After Tanlac Freed Her of Thirty Years Trouble — Is Like a Different Woman Now.

"I owe my present good health to Tanlac and I shall praise it as long as I live," said Mrs. Sarah Brunner, of 364 North Seminary street, Galesburg, Ill.

"I suffered from stomach trouble and rheumatism for thirty years, and at times thought I would surely die. Even the lightest kind of food like oatmeal or soft boiled eggs would cause a burning in my stomach and I would bloat up with gas until I could hardly breathe and my heart would palpitate something awful. Rheumatism settled in my joints and hurt me so bad that I could hardly get around the house to do my work. I had awful pains across the small of my back and became so nervous that some nights I never slept a wink and the next day would suffer with a splitting headache. I had tried so many medicines without getting any relief that I became despondent and discouraged. "I bought a bottle of Tanlac and from then on I began to get well. I soon had a good appetite and could eat anything I wanted without any fear of indigestion afterwards. I began to sleep well at night and to get stronger, and the terrible headaches left me. I continued with the medicine and today the rheumatism has entirely disappeared and I am like a different woman."

Tanlac is sold in Dixon by the Public Drug & Book Co., and by the leading druggists in every town.

STEPHAN A. DAY

Of Evanston, Ill., Republican Candidate for Congressman at Large at the primaries, Sept. 15, was born in Canton, O., in 1882; neighbor of William McKinley, in which cabinet his father, Justice William R. Day, was Secretary of State. His mother's father, Louis Schaefer, was one of the builders of Canton. Lives in Evanston, Ill., with his wife, daughter of Judge Thayer, and four children. Graduated at the University of Michigan, served in Washington, D. C., as confidential secretary to Chief Justice Melville W. Fuller.

Came to Illinois in 1908, and has been closely associated with General Charles G. Dawes; has been in active practice of law in Chicago for twelve years and is a member of the American, Illinois and Chicago Bar associations.

He has acquired a national reputation as an authority on industrial problems and is the founder of the great movement for closer relation in industry, upon the basis of true industrial justice. He was one of the leaders in the campaign of Governor Lowden for president. He has been a personal friend of Senator Warren G. Harding since boyhood and has a thorough admiration for his qualities of both heart and mind. Member National Legislative Committee of the Hamilton Club.

RUSSIA IS RIPE FOR REVOLT BUT PEASANTS ARE AFRAID TO START

Duckworth Summarizes All He Saw in Journey Thru "Redland."

BY J. H. DUCKWORTH, N. E. A. Staff Correspondent.

Reval, Esthonia.—"What keeps the Soviet republic going?" asked a clown at a Petrograd circus. His answer was in Russian rhyme:

"Jewish brain, Lettish bayonets, Russian stupidity."

This crack brought down the house. The clown got two weeks in the fortress of Saints Peter and Paul for his temerity.

I often thought of this incident when I was safe out of Russia. There was more to a medium of truth in the jest.

Terrible Revenge.

Led by the clever Jewish brains the workers and peasants of Russia have also taken a terrible revenge on their oppressors—the capitalists and the big landowners.

But the workers and peasants are now heartily sick of the experiment in Communism. Russia is now economically a wreck. The proletariat is praying for a change of government to the hope of getting bread.

It is only by bayonets and the threats of imprisonment or death that keep the people from openly revolting. Russia is ripe for a counter-revolution. But the people are too stupid, or rather stupefied, as a result of continued starvation, to make a move.

The long and wearisome ride from Moscow to Jamburg I shall never forget. Soldiers guarded all the stations. Soldiers were in all the little wayside towns. They boarded the train every hour or so to examine permits. And all along the 500 miles peasants were beseeching us to give them bread.

It seemed strange, but numerous Soviet government officials begged me—almost with tears in their eyes, to help them get to America.

All Want to Get Out.

Soviet Red Cross nurses, railroad officials, even some of the commissars on our train of 300 Swiss refugees, everybody in Soviet Russia, it seemed, wanted to get out.

Scores of Americans of Russian origin, who gave up their good jobs in the states and flocked back to Russia after the revolution in the hopes of finding a paradise on earth, now find themselves prisoners in a land of famine.

At Jamburg, near the Esthonian frontier, the commissar in charge of our food and the Russian commandant of the train were both marched off to the local headquarters of the extraordinary commission between armed guards.

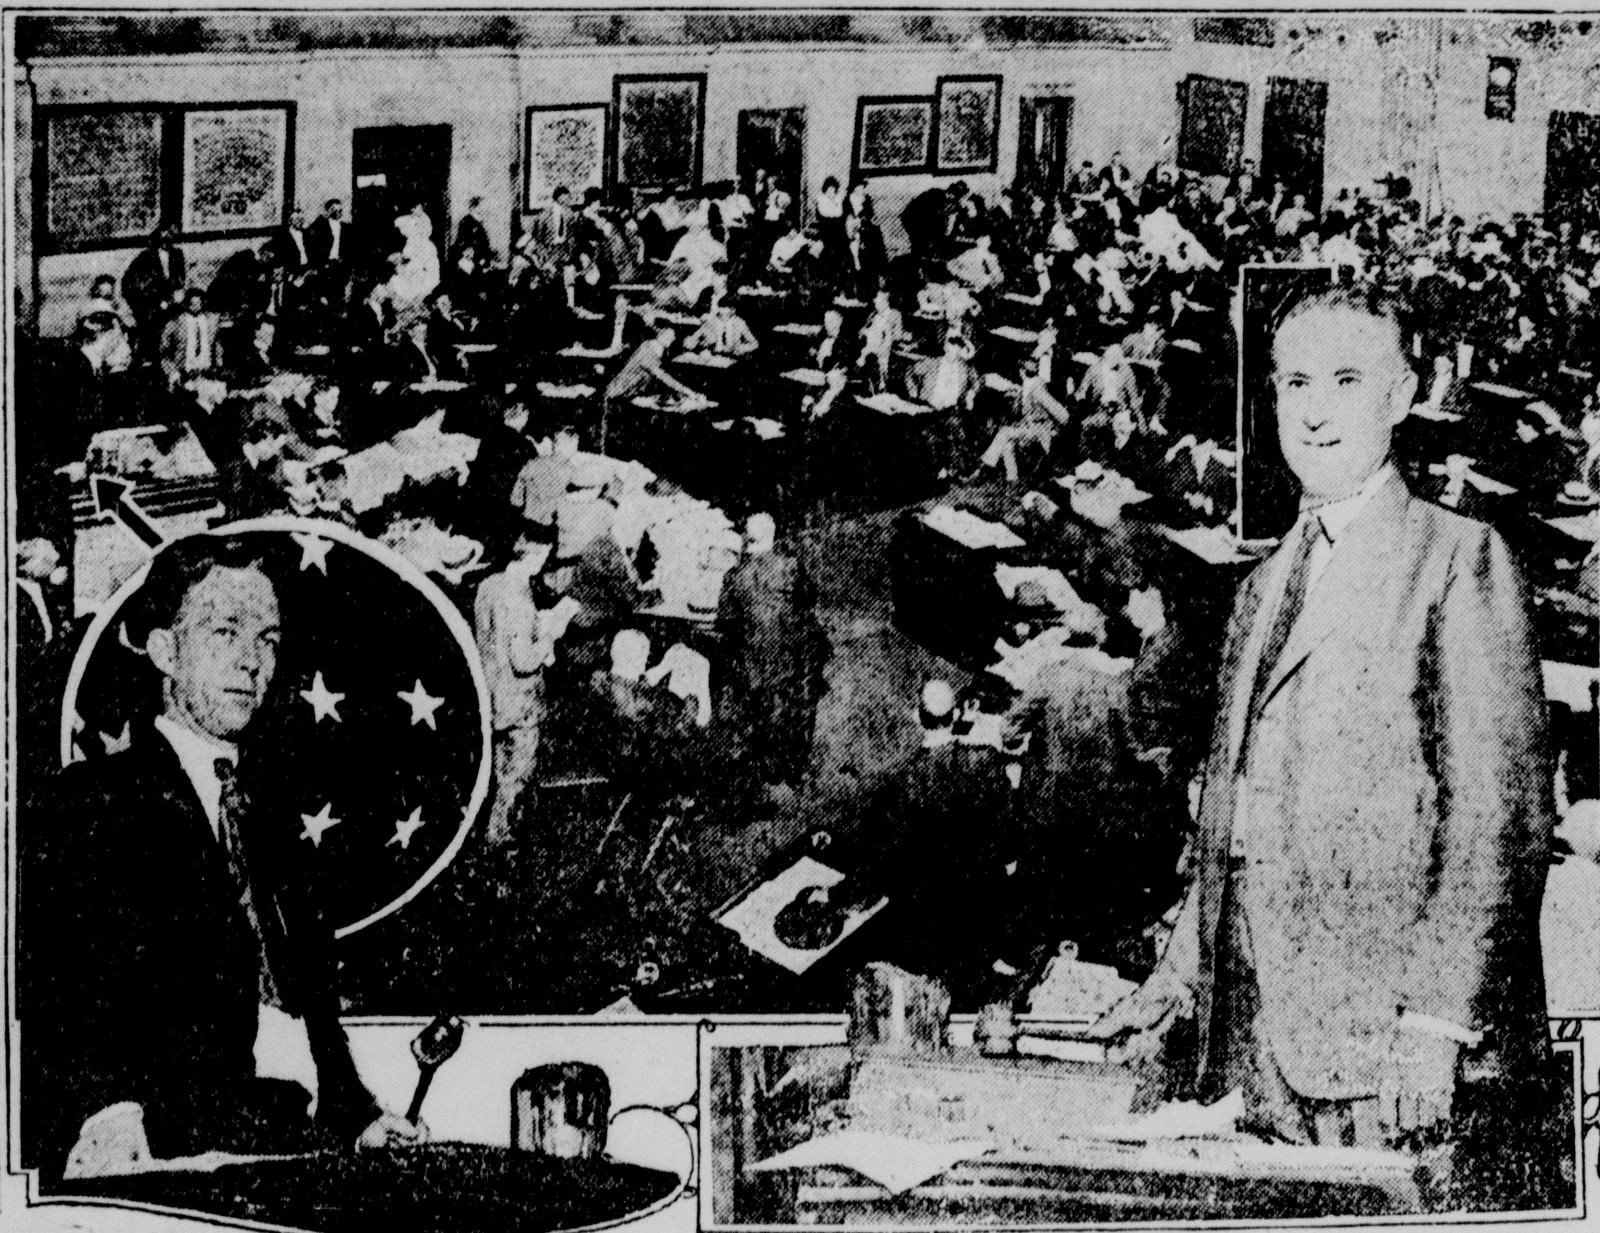

It was rumored that they had been discovered plotting to escape into Esthonia. We were sorry for them. Their fate was sealed. All the way from Moscow these two Bolsheviks had been eulogizing the beauties and benefits of Bolshevism—camouflage.

Suspicious of Man.

I was accompanied all the way from Moscow by a man I believed to be a spy or agent-provocateur. He was thrown in my way the day I was evacuated from the prison of the Vetchalka in Moscow. He pretended to be an Englishman who had been in prison, too. But he looked so uncommonly fat and well that I at once became suspicious.

He seemed particularly anxious to find out what I was going to write when I got out of Russia. And he was always inviting me to hop the train and return to Petrograd. I pretended

SCENE AS SUFFRAGE WON

Nashville, Tenn.—Here is the first photograph of the Tennessee House of Representatives in the special suffrage session, which ratified the ed that my trip had been a failure; that I had seen nothing of consequence. He expressed astonishment when I got over the frontier at seeing me busily taking notes.

"You seem more cheerful now," he said.

"Yes," I answered. "I am now on the safe side of the line."

Let me here make a confession. I went to Russia with the friendliest of feelings towards communism. In fact, my intimate friends in New York called me a Bolshevik.

Cured of Bolshevism.

I expected to find that "the great 80 per cent" in Russia were comparatively happy, on top. I was quite willing that the 20 per cent, capitalists, exploiters, bourgeois, call them what you will, should suffer if the majority were happy.

I am cured.

But perhaps I was only a parlor Bolshevik, after all.

Communism may be a beautiful theory of government. In practice it is a ghastly fiasco. Nobody is happy under it; everybody, both the 80 and the 20 per cent, is hungry to the point of starvation.

At Jamburg we were held up six hours. We were taken about a mile through the woods to an old farmhouse and given a final shakedown by the extraordinary commission. The men were taken into one room and the women into another, where our clothing was searched. Some were stripped. Diamond rings, gold and silver coins and even overcoats were taken away from us. Bolshevik literature we were allowed to keep.

A Grim Joker.

And then, later on in the train, as said, indicated by arrow in large photo, snapped presiding over the suffrage session.

RIGHT—Speaker A. L. Todd of the Tennessee Senate, caught by the

we were approaching the red flag on the barbed wire on the frontier, a commissar gravely came into every coach and asked:

"Does anybody want to go back to Russia? This is your last chance."

A grim joker, this Bolshevik.

The last few minutes in Russia were anxious moments for all of us. Something might happen to make the Bolsheviks change their minds and send us back to Moscow.

Once over the line everybody commenced to sing. Some prayed—prayers of thankfulness for their safe delivery, I suppose. Others put their heads out of the windows, and looking towards Russia, spat out on the tracks.

Scores of Bolshevism.

I was told when I left the states not to editorialize and to write only about things I saw and actually heard. But before I close let me say this:

Bolshevism in the United States must be fought tooth and nail. It is a destructive form of government. It tears down the rich—and pushes the poor further into the mire. Nobody benefits by it.

Must Be Fought.

But the spirit of Bolshevism must be fought intelligently. Oppression and the curtailment of free speech won't accomplish anything. The workers of America have honest grievances. These must be righted. Personally I don't blame them for believing that Communism will right all their wrongs. Theoretically it will.

But no honest man can see Russia, as I have seen it and come back and wish to have Bolshevism tried out in his own country—that is, if he loves his fellow citizens.

Wilson's Russian Note is Scored

BY MILTON BRONNER, European Manager N. E. A.

Manchester, England.—The Manchester Guardian, British liberal paper, prints a slashing attack, by its President Wilson's note on the Russian-Polish situation.

"That it was put forward for deliberate purpose of obstructing peace negotiations, no one can question, who knows intimately the personnel of the Russia division of the American State Department," the attack said.

"The note was clearly drafted in that division and perhaps edited by President Wilson. This division controls all sources of information on which the president and his cabinet act. It is composed of a very small group which from the earliest days has been made up of fanatical interventionists."

"They have been in closest personal association with monarchist cliques and monarchist propaganda organizations in the United States. Some of the men who have served in the division have been connected by family ties with old Russian aristocracy."

ADOBE HOUSES STAGE COME-BACK IN WEST.

Denver—Adobe houses are being built in this vicinity. Due to the soaring costs of building materials, the American Beet Sugar Company has put up more than thirty colonies of adobe homes for Mexican sugar workers. Adobe is a clay soil which is mixed with water and chopped straw for building purposes. There is some question as to whether it will stand a real torrential rain.

"FISH BANDITS" HELP SELVES TO NICE STRING.

Toledo—"Fish bandits" is the latest here. Robert Kelly was returning home with a nice string of fish. Three boys held him up, so Robert's mother told police, and while the boy was tied to a stake the "robbers" cooked the fish and ate them.

Canada's fisheries last year yielded a commercial revenue of more than $60,000,000.

C. of C. Headquarters Are Being Fitted Up

The offices of the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce in the Odd Fellows building are rapidly assuming a busy center. Both rooms have been opened and are now in use. Secretary Carroll King will use one of the small rooms for his office, the larger one to be used as a committee and directors room. The furniture for the office has been partially installed. Some of the equipment was ordered especially and has not arrived.

The secretary has received several letters from Dixon citizens who have sent in suggestions for a motto to be painted on the Memorial arch on Calhoun avenue and Second street.

SHEEP BLEATS IN H. C. L. CASE

SWORN AFFIDAVIT OF A SHEEP.

Commonwealth of the United States—ss.

On this 16th day of August, in the year of our Lord 1920, personally appeared before me, a Notary Public, duly authorized to administer oaths, A. Sheep, of the ancient and honorable tribe of Ovine, who being duly sworn according to law, both depose and say that he has no connection whatever with the cause of the deplorable high cost of living.

Dependent further bleats that this act is voluntary and made of his own free will for the purpose of showing to the world that he is in no way responsible for the intolerable living conditions that are grinding the people of this fair land, and in my presence attaches his signature thereto.

REPAIRING CAR SAYS IT RAN OVER HIM.

Akron—Run over by the auto he was repairing? So charges Evon A. Gies, who says Norman A. Adams ran into the rear of the machine, parked at the curb, while he was standing in front of it. The car ran over him. He asks $20,000 damages.

UNDERTAKERS OBJECT TO WALKING FUNERALS.

London.—The undertakers of Bushey have banned the bier presented for use of the inhabitants 13 years ago and which has been used for more than 1,000 burials. The undertakers do not favor walking funerals, is the reason assigned.

At the beginning of the nineteenth century, temperance societies favored coffee houses to take the place of saloons.

450 CARLOADS MATERIAL PER DAY INTO ROADS

Work on Highways of Illinois Moving Rapidly.

Springfield, Ill.—Four hundred and fifty railroad cars a day are required to transport road materials to the construction gangs working on the Illinois highways, according to a bulletin of the State Division of Highways.

"Assuming that it takes ten days for a car to make a round trip between the source of supply and to point of delivery," the bulletin says, "it would be necessary to place in this service 4,500 cars for the entire season."

People receiving or shipping freight in car load lots, the bulletin continues will appreciate the difficulty the Division of Highways has in completing this season's program. Up to August 1 one hundred miles of federal aid road had been completed but 350 miles contracted for remained untouched.

The one hundred miles completed is distributed as follows:

Lincoln Highway (Chicago to Clinton, Ia.) 25 miles; Dixie Highway (Chicago to Marshall) 15 miles; National Old Trails (St. Louis to Terra Haute) 27 miles; Chicago to St. Louis road, 34 miles.

Mileage uncompleted but contracted for on these same roads is as follows: Lincoln highway 40 miles. Dixie highway 50 miles. National Old Trails 90 miles. Chicago-St. Louis road 150 miles. Chicago-Waukegan (Chicago through Waukegan to Wisconsin state line) 20 miles—a total of 350 miles.

Contractors have been working on the Chicago-Waukegan road and have laid about five miles of concrete which is now ready for its top.

Believe Camp Grant Will Be Permanent

Rockford, Ill.—Announcement that Camp Custer, the $16,000,000 cantonment at Battle Creek, Mich., is to be abandoned and salvaged, created a stir at Camp Grant today where officers regarded the war department's action as meaning that Camp Grant will be maintained.

With the closing of Camps Taylor at Louisville, Ky., Gordon at Atlanta, Ga., and Dodge at Des Moines, Ia., choice of a middle western post has shimmered down to Camps Custer and Grant. The action at the Michigan site will take place gradually. The 10th Infantry will be transferred to Camp Sherman, Ohio, the 14th Infantry to the Panama Canal Zone, while the miscellaneous outfits will be distributed through the various camps of the central division.

Certain large industries have wanted the reservation as an ideal factory site, and representatives of these firms have held frequent conferences at Washington. Among those mentioned were the General Motors and the Ford Motor company.

Many have declared Camp Custer to be the best military camp in the United States. It covers about 9000 acres and was established July 1, 1917. During Major Wood's recent visit he recommended new roofs for the buildings and a large fund was set aside for improvements.

Belief that Camp Grant will eventually become the leading post in the middle west is strengthened by the thousands of dollars spent by the government in the interests of the educational department here.

COST HIM $25 TO BE A "BAD MAN."

PATTI'S LETTERS CAUSE ROW.

London.—When "Musical Truth" started publishing the late Madame Patti's private letters, Baron Cederstrom, her husband, went to court about it. An injunction was granted.

"FREE AUTO RIDE" COST HIM PLINY.

Akron—Frank Reiser was offered a "free auto ride." It was hot and he accepted. Now police are looking for the men who took $45 from Frank's pockets.

Crown Prince Comes to U. S. to Forget Peasant Bride

San Francisco.—Crown Prince Carol of Rumania is touring America, gossip says, to forget the peasant bride he has given up. The marriage was annulled so that the prince might succeed to the throne. This picture of the prince smiling with a bevy of San Francisco girls would indicate that, under the American girls' charms, the prince's "forgetter" is in fine working order. The prince has a retinue of 13 persons.

CLARK ACTS AS CUPID'S ASSISTANT.

London.—Donald Clark, Tonbridge's anti-mixed bathing councillor, is receiving many letters from men who ask him to find them wives. The latest is from a man in Oakland, Cal., who had read that Clerk believed mixed bathing was the greatest hindrance to marriage today. The councillor has promised to aid the Californian.

HARD WINTER IN FRANCE.

Paris, Aug. 3.—New ideas for economizing coal and other fuel are sought by the authorities and 100,000 francs in prizes have been offered by the Seine Department for ideas and inventions this fall.

Under the provisions of the Spa Conference agreement, France, will have, from all sources, slightly less than 80 per cent of her needs in coal and now, in the sultry heat of summer, the people are beginning to worry about the shivers of the coming winter.

British experts have invented a cold vulcanizing process which will make possible manufacture of many rubber lines in which hot vulcanizing was impractical.

Wilson Takes a Junior 'League of Nations' Out for an Auto Spin

Washington.—How 'ja like to ride with the president of the United States? Three lads rode with the president and Mrs. Wilson through Rocky Creek park here. The president saw the boys playing in the park, ordered the driver to stop and picked up three little passengers. The boys are left to right "Tilly" Falcone, 7-year-old son of an Italian barber; Marcus Mench, 14-year-old son of an Austrian grocer, and "Preckle Face Mickey" Michael Joseph Deagan, 10-year-old son of an Irish taxi driver, all of Washington. LOWDEN BRANDS CHI. CITY HALL PLATFORM SHAME TO ILLINOIS

Tells of Reasons for Fighting Mayor of the Metropolis.

Springfield, Ill., — The Thompson-Lundin attempt to elect a state ticket and secure control of the state government was mercilessly arraigned by Governor Frank O. Lowden in his first public address of the campaign. The result of the contest will determine whether Lundin shall become the de facto governor of Illinois as well as the de facto mayor of Chicago, and whether or not the Socialist, demagogic Thompson platform shall be the platform of Illinois Republicans, the Governor said.

He recounted the attempt to force the Thompson platform on the state convention and told of the effort to intimidate him by threats of opposition to his candidacy for the presidency in the National convention. Again an effort was made to force him to withdraw opposition to the re-election of Mayor Thompson as national committee member by threat of the hostility of all the forces of the city government during the National convention in Chicago.

"This has not been a fight, so far as I am concerned, upon personal grounds," the governor declared. "It has been a fight for principle which I regard vital to the welfare of our state and nation."

The Governor said in part:

A Fight for Principle

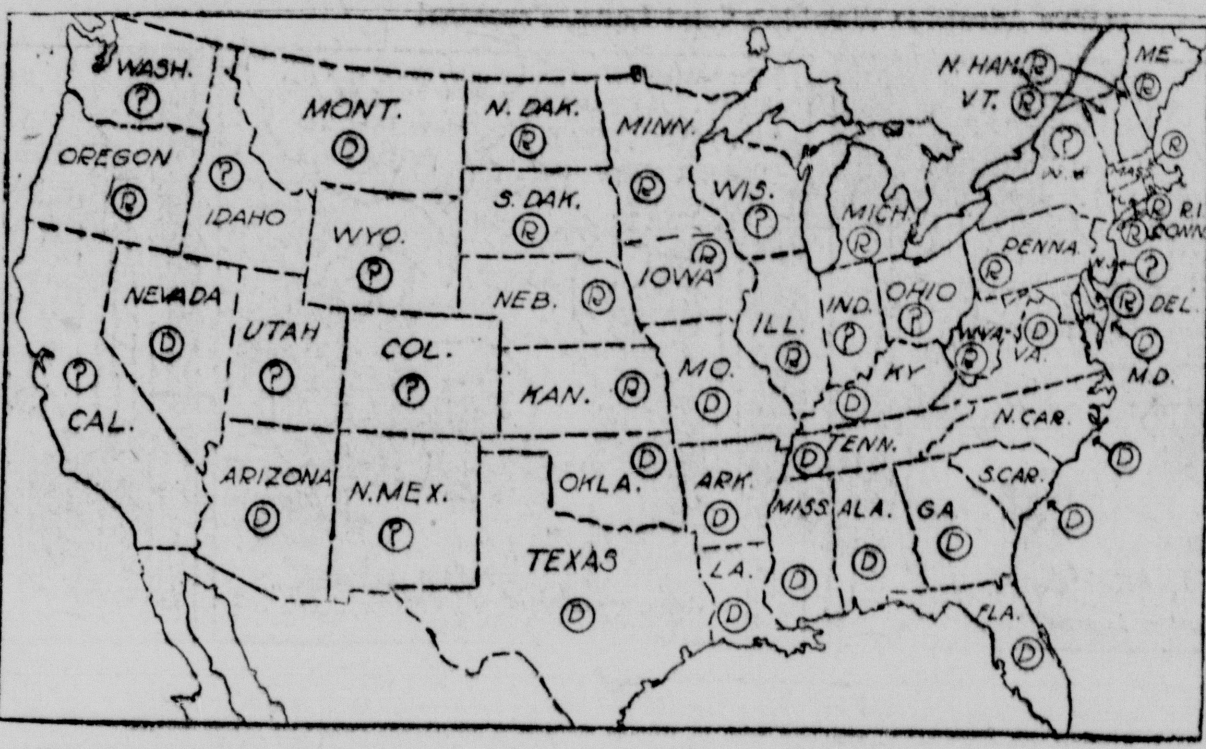

This is not a factional contest within the Republican party. It is a fight being used by those Republicans of Illinois, who avow full allegiance to the principles expressed by the Republican party at the National convention in June, against those who wish to substitute for the National platform another platform, partly socialist and altogether demagogic. That platform is known as the Thompson platform. It advocates the confiscation of property, it seeks to arouse class hatred, it imperils the title of every home owner to his home and of every farmer to his farm. Never in the history of parties in America has any party, save the most radical Socialist party, ever submitted to the country a platform as revolutionary as this so-called Thompson platform. When that platform was presented by the Cook county convention, at the dictation of the Lundin-Thompson machine the Republicans of the country were amazed and shocked. They had seen the non-partisan league of North Dakota seize control of the Republican party. In that state, though the league was opposed to every principle for which the Republican party stood. They had believed that such things were possible in the newer states of the west, but now they asked the question: How can this be done in the state of Lincoln to control the control of those who call themselves Republicans, but who avow principles contrary to everything for which he stood?

We know that the Lundin-Thompson forces had created a Tammany as ruthless, as autocratic, as expensive to the people as had ever existed in the city of New York. We knew that government was for the benefit of the governed but solely for the benefit of those who govern. We did not know, however, until their platform was presented to the world, that they proposed to use this Tammany they had created to subvert the fundamental principles of Constitutional Government.

Before our state convention met I learned that they proposed to force their platform upon the Republicans of Illinois. I resolved to fight the betrayal of the Republican party with whatever power I possessed. I was warned time and time again, that such opposition on my part would cost me the votes of seventeen delegates to the National convention, controlled by the city hall. I was reminded that seventeen delegates against me from my own state—a number larger than the full delegation of most of the states—would probably cost me the nomination. I replied that there were many things more important to me than the nomination to the presidency, and among them was my duty to my own state, which has so highly honored me. The shame of Illinois was too big a price to pay even for the presidency.

The convention assembled in Springfield. All the state knows what happened there. Lundin was on the ground, in charge of the forces of the city hall. They believed that, with their solid cohorts from Cook county, they could gather up enough downstate votes to control the convention. But in this they were doomed to disappointment. The Cook county platform was overwhelmingly defeated, and the honor of Illinois was saved. Then it was that the Lundin-Thompson Tammany discovered what a wicked administration I had given to the state. For the committee on resolutions, almost evenly divided between the Thompson adherents and my friends, just a little before had unanimously reported resolutions commending, in the highest terms, my administration of the affairs of the state. These resolutions had been adopted by the convention without opposition.

Refuses to Compromise

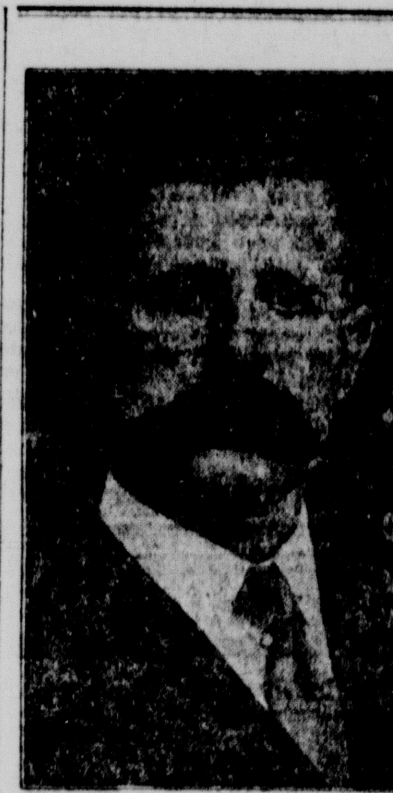

A little later the National Convention assembled in Chicago. Then I was assured that, if I would assent to the nomination of Thompson for Illinois, I would receive the solid support of the Lundin-Thompson delegation from Chicago. All who were at the convention and who gave any attention to the matter, know this to be a fact. This again would mean recognition of the Cook county platform. As I saw it, there could be no compromise with that platform with honor, and again I refused. The Cook county platform was submitted to the National convention and repudiated by that great body of representative Republicans. The Lundin-Thompson forces had threatened that unless Thompson were elected a member of the National committee, not only would they go against me, but that the police force, the fire department, their marching clubs, and all resources at their command, would be used to create an atmosphere which would make my nomination impossible. I owe it to them to say that I think they kept their promise as well as they could. At any rate they boasted, after the convention was over, that they had brought about my defeat. Perhaps, they did. If so, the presidency was never so well lost by any man, in all the history of the republic. This has not been a fight, so far as I am concerned, upon personal grounds. It has been a fight for principle, which I regard vital to the welfare of our state and nation.

If I felt it my duty then to wage this warfare, I cannot now remain silent when these same forces have put a complete state ticket into the field, pledged to this platform, which has been repudiated by the Republicans of Illinois, and the Republicans of the nation alike. I hold in my hand a card. This card is being circulated among the voters of Illinois. It contains upon one side an outline of the Cook county platform; upon the other, a complete list of candidates for state offices. That list is headed by Mr. Smith, of Dwight, for the United States Senate, by Mr. Small, of Kankakee, for Governor. It is stated below their names that they are pledged to the Cook county platform. I have not seen this statement denied by any man upon that ticket.

I have felt it my duty to oppose in every honorable way I know the success of men, who have thus pledged allegiance to the Lundin-Thompson Tammany of Chicago. There has been some criticism because Republicans of the state, who believe in the national platform who are opposed to Thompsonism, were brought together in an effort to unite upon some one candidate for governor, and for other places upon the state ticket, to oppose the City Hall slate. Would the cause of good government have been better subserved if Mr. Sterling and Mr. Russell, and others equally popular throughout the state had also been candidates for governor along with Mr. Oglesby? When these men yielded their legitimate ambitions, in order to make effective warfare against the Lundin-Thompson Tammany, they performed a patriotic and unselfish service, and that service could not have been accomplished without conference. No one, except a friend of the Chicago Tammany would wish the forces against it divided among themselves. A Tammany organization has this advantage—one man makes up its slate. No conference is needed. Mr. Small, the Lundin-Thompson candidate for governor, in his announcement sent broadcast over the state, with his approval the Cook county platform without dotting an I or crossing a T. Can any sane man for a moment doubt that whatever Mr. Small's merits may otherwise be, if elected, the Chicago Tammany will rule the state? Let the people of Illinois ponder well upon what this means.

From the beginning of the British offensive in 1918 to the time of the armistice 700,000 tons of artillery ammunition were spent by the British army on the western front.

Gasoline Prices Follow Crude

"What," asked a customer recently, "has caused the sharp advance in the price of gasoline?" And our answer was substantially as follows:

The advances in the selling price of gasoline which have occurred since January 1st, were due primarily to the increased cost of crude oil. The market on all grades of crude took an upward trend during the latter part of 1919, and has been climbing steadily since that time.

During 1919 gasoline prices remained stationary, the refiners absorbing the increased cost of crude as long as it was possible to do so. In January, 1920, gasoline prices generally were advanced to meet the increasing cost of raw material.

Another factor was the practical exhaustion of gasoline reserves brought about by the unprecedented demands for this fuel. During the first months of this year the consumption of gasoline greatly exceeded production.

But the primary reason was the constantly increasing price of crude oil.

Still other reasons for the mounting prices are the greatly increased cost of labor, of steel, and of other items used in manufacture; also the constantly advancing cost of marketing and distribution. Everything that goes into the refining of petroleum is very expensive today.

But the primary and controlling reason is found in the increasing cost of crude.

In keeping with its well-known policy, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been able to maintain low prices for gasoline in the face of advancing prices for crude oil because of its large scale operation in refining, and its complete and economical system of distribution. And, also, because of its advanced facilities for obtaining a maximum quantity of gasoline from a given quantity of crude.

The Middle West depends largely upon gasoline power for producing food stuffs.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is straining every fibre of its highly specialized organization to meet this demand.
